Medical Necessity

Providers must document the medical necessity for all services provided. If there is no documented evidence (i.e., objective measurements) of ongoing significant benefit, then the medical record documentation must provide other clear evidence of medical necessity for treatments. The medical record must also clearly indicate the complexity of skills required by the treating practitioner/clinician.

Documentation is key in demonstrating medical necessity for wound care services. Below is a list of a few examples of what to include in the patient's medical record:

- Include documentation that reflects objective data and goals
- Include documentation that reflects services that are medically necessary and meet utilization guidelines
- Document ICD-10 codes to highest level of specificity
- Documentation should include the type of wound and location
- Description of the stage if wound is pressure ulcer
- Measurements after debridement and immediately prior to skin sub application
- Document progress (or lack of progress) that patient has experienced since prior application such as improvement in measurements, type of tissue in ulcer, and appearance of ulcer (drainage, redness, etc.)
- Include characteristics of tissue in wound bed (necrosis, granulation, infection)
- Description of any drainage (exudate) - none, low, moderate, high
- Description of condition of surrounding skin (red, dry, warming, scaling, thin, normal)
- Include documentation of indications of infection
- Description of pain (location, duration, intensity, quality)
- Document amount of product wasted
    - Date and time
    - Amount of product used (units)
    - Amount of product wasted (units) along with reason for wastage
    - Document as well if there is no wastage
